

MACC Mobile for Accounting Master

Smartphones and tablet computers continue to boost productivity in the workplace. To capitalize on this evolving technology, our MACC Mobile for Accounting Master uses these devices to make the inventory process for our clients easier and more efficient.

Inventory made easy

MACC Mobile for Accounting Master allows our clients' employees to use smartphones and tablet computers they're already familiar with to undertake a wide variety of common inventory activities. The devices can be used to receive information into the inventory system, conduct item searches, sync-up physical counts with information stored in the database and issue or transfer items from inventory.

Instead of purchasing separate scanners to read bar codes on inventory that needs to be entered, employees can use Bluetooth scanners synced to their smartphones. These devices are less expensive than traditional bar code scanners and they allow employees to see the details captured from the bar code in an easy-to-read, web-optimized format.

Comfortable in a variety of roles

MACC Mobile for Accounting Master can be used in a variety of settings. From tracking inventory in a single warehouse to empowering technicians in the field to check-out equipment as it is used, Accounting Master's Mobile version can handle all of these tasks. Built in security roles, which can be customized for each client's exact needs, ensure only the appropriate employees have access to a company's inventory information. Changes made using the mobile feature appear in real-time within the rest of

Key Benefits

- Use smartphones and tablet computers to assist in a wide variety of inventory related activities
- Reduced scanner expense through the use of Bluetooth devices
- Empower a greater number of employees to participate in the inventory process
- Real-time updates to Accounting Master's inventory module

Accounting Master. Conversely, inventory updates made within Accounting Master users in the office are also reflected in real-time to ensure counts that are continuously accurate.

Ready to learn more?

For more information on MACC Mobile for Accounting Master, contact your MACC Client Relations Manager, Account Manager or National Sales Representative.